

Leaders Encounter

Followers A follower recognizes power and potential in you and is attracted, encouraged, and inspired by you. He/she is interested in being a part of your vision and will support you in your project. Gets their being from being with and for you.

Leaders A leader recognizes power and potential in you and is interested in having you as a part of his/her support team or involved with his/her vision. He/she may also want to collaborate with you on your project. Can mentor as well as participate.

Stoppers A stopper recognizes power and potential in you and is confronted by this. They see something in you they are unwilling to confront in themselves or they see something in you that they perceive is missing (usually the opposite is true). You mirror them in an uncomfortable way and they must stop you in order to maintain their world view. They may try to throw you off-track, create obstacles, focus on the negative, etc.

Killers A killer recognizes power and potential as a personal threat. They respond to leaders with a "fight or flight" reaction. They may alienate, threaten (implied or not), disappear, and do whatever is in their power to end their connection with you. They will attempt to kill you personally, professionally, publicly, financially, emotionally, spiritually, etc. Your reaction gives them their reason for living.
